

SOCIALITIES.

Dr. H. R. Bourne visited Allen-ville last week.

Miss Sallie Ford, of Earlinton, is visiting friends in the city.

Miss Ada Trice is visiting Miss Belle Henry at Casey.

Miss Bevel Williams, of Todd county, was in the city last week.

Tom Rodman, of Louisville, is spending a few days with his parents.

Miss Sallie Cook spent last week in the city, with relatives and friends.

Miss Kitty Charles, of Garrettsburg, spent last week with Miss Mag-gio family.

Mrs. Fred Mart and her little twin daughters are visiting the family of Mr. A. M. Lamb.

Master Jas. H. Ware has gone to Princeton to accept a position in a business house there.

Bryan Hopper took his regular trip to the county Sunday and came back with a suitcase full of life.

Miss Annie D. Ware is bewitching little heart-throbber of Paducah, who is visiting relatives in this city, went down to Montgomery to-day to visit Miss Bettie Gann.

Chas. W. Metcalf left Saturday for a business trip to Cincinnati. He will probably be gone a week.

Mrs. Clarence Anderson returned home last week from an extended visit to friends in Harrodsburg.

Rev. Mr. Spillman, of Harrodsburg, preached at the First Presby-terian Church Sunday morning and evening.

Mr. L. L. Waller returned last week from Abington, W. Va. where he has been in the Bed Spring business for some time.

Urey Woolson came over one night last week to attend the theatre. The show was not the only attraction for him, however.

Mr. T. H. Smith an experienced piano tuner, of Nashville, is at the Phoenix hotel and will tune your instrument for you.

Mrs. S. T. Enlow, of Bloomington, Ill., after a several weeks visit to her friends and relatives in the county, left for home last Monday accompa-nied by her brother, Wm. W. Harry.

Joel D. McPherson has returned from an extended trip to Louisville, and has accepted a position with Met-calf & Sons, and will introduce the celebrated I. X. L. pump into the county.

MATRIMONIAL FIGURES.

From October 1, 1879, to October 1, 1890, 317 Couples.

	White.	Black.	Total.
October	15	20	35

June	8	7	15
July	10	7	17
August	12	15	27
September	15	13	28
Total for the twelve months 317.

Now the population of the county is 31,700, showing that 2 per cent of the people of the county marry every year, as it takes 324 people to make 317 weddings. From this you can figure out your chances for matrimony. Of these 317 weddings, 100 were in the three winter months, 72 in the spring, 61 in the summer and 84 in the fall. December was the best month, having 58 and October and January next with 35 and 34 respec-tively. November comes next with 28 and March and September are equal with 27 each. Next in regular order come May, 24; June, 23; April, 21; August, 17; July, 16, and Febru-ary last with only 10. 6 per cent more negroes than whites marry. It will be observed that the number of males and females who marry is just equal.

MARRIED.

Looy-Proctor: On Wednesday, Oct. 27th at the residence of the bride in Logan county, Rev. N. Lacy of Madisonville, to Miss Georgiana Proctor. Mr. Lacy has many friends in this county, who will unite in wishing him many years of happi-ness.

Reider-Stevenson: At the resi-dence of the bride's mother in this city Tuesday evening Nov. 2, 1890, Mr. J. Reider to Miss Looy Steven-son.

Now Is Your Time.

We have on hand a number of the first class buggies, light rockaways and trapcoaches, also a lot of good second-hand vehicles, which we want to sell, and offer them at greatly re-duced prices. This is your chance to secure a bargain, a good vehicle at a small price. We guarantee these vehicles first class and of our own make.

Bryant, McCall & Doster,

HERE AND THERE.

Tramp printers are plentiful. This is to be a quiet week; not a single show ahead.

A few flakes of "the beautiful" fell Friday between the showers of rain. The colored fair was again a total failure on account of the wet weather.

Rev. C. K. Marshall filled an ap-pointment at Russellville Friday night.

Mr. E. W. Henderson has just rec'd a lot of New Crop New Orleans Mo-lasses.

Most of Prof. Hunt's pupils have returned and the school is going ahead as usual.

Mr. L. E. Davis has been prostrat-ed with inflammatory rheumatism for several days.

Jesse Ratcliff charged with the murder of Col. E. A. Starling in June last will be tried at Princeton this month.

The streets are in a fearful condi-tion. Some of the crossings are al-most entirely covered up with mud.

Mr. Henry Herndon, of this county, has bought a dwelling in Princeton, and according to the rumor will move to that place.

The Agnes Wallace-Yilla Com-bination will be here on the 19th and 20th, last, the latter part of next week.

The election here last Tuesday was unusually quiet. Not a disturbance of any kind occurred and the best of feeling prevailed between the two parties.

The farmers who have not finished sowing wheat are complaining very much of the continued wet weather. It is now extremely doubtful whether the balance of the crop can be sown at all.

Servants were held in the Russell-ville street Presbyterian Church Sun-day, for the first time. It has just been finished and is built on a style entirely different from every other church in town.

Mr. Jno. W. Winfree of Casey has been lying for several days in a very precarious condition, with congestion of the brain. He is still no better and little hope of his recovery is en-tertained.

Mrs. Dr. J. P. Thomas, of Penn-broke, kindly remembered us last week with the finest lot of sweet po-tatoes we have ever seen. They averaged six pounds each. Many thanks for the gift.

A negro drove a wagon and team into the river last week while it was up and had to swim out to save himself. He returned and unhitched his horse, letting them swim out, but left the wagon till the flood, submerg-ed.

The heat debate of the season was held Saturday night. The next ques-tion is "Can a man have a well defined idea without being able to express it?" It will be discussed by Messrs. Knight and Hale. The debate will be one of interest and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Mr. J. J. Mitchell, the old and re-liable blacksmith, will move his shop from his present stand to his new shop on Liberty street, to the house formerly occupied by the old cooper shop, nearly opposite the old Rink building. He will enter into the business permanently at this place.

A crowd was assembled around the telegraph office at twelve o'clock Tuesday night to hear the dispatches from New York read. Just after the dispatch, "53,000 Democrats" for the day in New York city, was read a stenorial voice yelled out in the crowd "God darn New York, what the news from New York, what the news from New York?" Both Democrats and Republicans joined in the laugh that followed.

James A. McKee, the former state-ment of McKee, is elected to his third term in Congress, and will be in accordance with his wishes, the next Governor of Kentucky. We have to attend the matter of our future, and propose that we take J. A. M. for six years to come.—New Era.

We accept the amendment and al-so move that we take S. A. M. for the same length of time in the clerkship of the Appellate court.

An enthusiastic Democrat from Wallons came rushing into the city Tuesday evening, where everything had gone overwhelmingly Democratic and wanted to be his farm and all the money he had that Hancock was elected. He had evidently heard no news and was judging the whole county by the little Trigg county stronghold. Party friends came to his rescue and prevented him from taking his money on a lost cause.

Come to Stay.

The present proprietors of the South Kentuckian have bought the office material now used by them and intend to make improvements in the paper another year. We have reason to believe that our circulation in the county exceeds that of any other paper and it is constantly increasing. We are grateful to the people of this and adjacent counties who have so liberally patronized and sustained us and we wish to say that we have come to stay. The office is now ours and we intend to continue the paper under the present management fully. Hoping that our friends will speak a good word for us and try to induce others to subscribe we make this announcement for another year. In order that every one may be able to take the paper we will furnish it from now till Jan. 1, for 25cts cash, or till Jan. 1, 1892 for $2.00.

SHOT IN THE EYE.

The Death Dealing Bullet.

Bellevue the Scene of the Tragedy.

A killing, horrible in its details, is reported from Bellevue, in this county. Two negroes, named Jim Ste-gar and Dave Japlin, living with Robert Cox, were sent out into the woods in the afternoon in cut wood. Failing to return at night Mr. Cox went to the woods the next morning and found the lifeless body of Stegar with a bullet hole in his eye, where he had been lying cold in death for twenty hours.

Reida Parrish, a colored girl, told the following story, which is the only explanation to the bloody deed. The two boys were cutting wood when she came by the road and spoke first to Stegar and then to Japlin. The first then remarked, as she thought jealously, "you ought to speak to that ugly nigger." Japlin made some harsh reply and she passed on and left them quarrelling. She had gone a few hundred yards when she heard a pistol shot and saw Japlin get into the road. She thought nothing of it and went on. The find-ing of the body of Stegar the next morning explained it all. He was murdered and left lying in the woods and the murderer made his escape. The negroes of the community bore made up a purse of fifty dollars as a reward for the apprehension of Japlin. Up to this writing nothing has been heard from him. He was a recent importation to the neighborhood.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Chanfran combination played two nights at Mozart Hall last week. On Wednesday Mr. Chanfran played Kit; and the following night Mrs. Chanfran appeared as Grace Shirley in "Paradise." They had good houses both nights.

MACKEY-SYLVESTER COMPANY. Few troupes have visited us this season possessing more merit than the Mackey-Sylvester combination that played the 1 and 2 last last week. On Monday night the cele-brated play "Cato" was rendered to an audience not at all commensurate with the merit of the performance. As Eccles Mr. Mackey was lumina-ry and the character as personated kept the audience in an uproar of laughter. Miss Louise Sylvester as Polly Eccles was the most notable character. In all the varying scenes and situations of the play, whether the part was humorous, witty, pathos or emotional she proved equal to the emergency and gave the most unbounded satisfaction. The sup-port was moderately good and the play taken altogether was one of the best of the season.

On Tuesday night "Our Flirtation" was rendered. Mr. Mackey as Ray-mond and Miss Sylvester as Laura Lightheart and Sara Secker were the principal characters. The play was in three acts representing a scene on the train, a picnic in the woods and the parlor of the hotel in the evening afterwards. Miss Sylvester as Sara Secker, a disfigure she chose invited herself to the picnic with umbrella, sash and miscellaneous articles, was the terror of the male part of the com-pany. She was a spinster, of uncer-tain age and was peculiarly implem-ent of Laura. This character, proved in the end to be Laura in disguise who had played the character with the assistance of a friend who was "dimmy" alternated the characters with her. The surprisingly quick manner in which these changes were made was the great interest of the play. Of course there was a love story running all through the play. Through Miss Secker's influence a promise was exacted from Raymond releasing Laura from an engagement with a man she did not love to marry Percy Vere whom she did love. When this promise was exacted she threw off her disguise and appeared as Laura to the consternation of the party, and the curtain fell upon the happy young couple surrounded by congratulating friends. The play is a good one and was highly enjoyed by all. A little dancing was thrown in to the pleuro pleasures but no part of the play was immolated or in-ter-gant.

Tri-State Medical Society.

The great tri-state medical as-sociation of Indiana, Illinois, and Ken-tucky will convene at Louisville to-day and continue four days. It is the grandest medical organization in the country and is destined to do a world of good in reforming and ad-vancing the practice of medicine. Our esteemed friend Dr. J. P. Thom-as, of Pembroke, is the first Vice Pres-ident of the association. He will read a paper on the surgical treatment of dysenteria. Dr. B. W. Stone, of this city will read an article on the early management of insanity.

Railroad Meeting.

The State railroad Commissioners will be here next Thursday and a meeting will be held for the purpose of taking steps to prevent further ex-tortion by the road at this place. The discrimination against Hopkins-ville has made it almost impossible to get coal to meet the demands of our people. A meeting was held Friday night and the commissioners peti-tioned. They will be here Thursday to take the matter in hand.

It costs $2,500 a year to maintain Hart county paupers.

28 marriage licenses were issued in Graves county last month.

CASEY.

Here we are again. The election is over, we have met the enemy and—were we there?"

The palm and patmetto didn't wave as lovingly beside each other as they might have done.

Now is the summer of our content, now is the summer of our content, now is the summer of our content.

The election passed off here very peaceably and quietly. Nobody hurt. Still it rains, and still the mud gets deeper.

The hog cholera is still raging. The question "where was Moses when the light went out?" has been satisfactorily answered by our friend, John W. Peabody.

John W. Peabody, late of Bainbridge, Ga., an experienced, druggist, and a gentleman, now resides at the prescription counter in the drug store of W. B. Bowles.

Mr. John W. Winfree has been quite sick for the last week, and is still considered quite dangerous.
